The space complexity for the IntGrid2D implementation is polynomial for the upper bound ($O(w^2)$) and linear for the lower bound omega(h). The maximum amount of space occurs when w and h are approximately equal, creating a square. The minimum amount of space occurs when w is 1 h can be any number, resulting in a constant slope of h.